

DAVE TESTS INJURY

DAVE Bullock is expected to return to the Wycombe Wanderers side tomorrow (Wednesday) when the Blues take on Stevenage in a friendly (7.30 p.m.). Dave has been troubled by an ankle injury this season which has kept him out of the side for a fortnight.

Newcomer Dave Alexander is also scheduled for a place in the team while Graham Mackenzie, Dylan Evans and Paul Griffiths are also likely to play.

Stevenage, from Division One North of the Southern League, will be a good test for Wycombe as they play in the same division as the Blues' F.A. Cup first round opponents, Cheltenham Town. In the league, on Saturday, Stevenage were held to a goalless draw by Banbury United.

Wanderers' Rothmans Isthmian League fixture on Saturday has been switched. They now meet Clapton at Loakes Park and not Leytonstone as originally scheduled.
